The BikeNZ Age Group & Omnium Track National Championships is a standout event on our National calendar, encompassing Age Group events and also the U19 Omnium, which attracts a wealth of world class athletes. New Zealand is privileged to have several extremely talented Age Group cyclists, including current world champions who will don the rainbow jersey when they race on the boards of the SIT Zero Fees Velodrome in Invercargill.

Young athletes destined to join the ranks of BikeNZ's elite will compete at the event, providing a unique opportunity to observe the rise of future champions. The battle for the National Points Shield also commences in Invercargill, with the winner decided the following weekend at the Elite & U19 Track Championships in Cambridge.

I'd like to thank Cycling Southland for all their great work in organising these championships, the many dedicated cycling officials, support services and numerous event volunteers that make the event the success that it is. I'd also like to thank the Lion Foundation for their support and all the local sponsors without whom we could not make this happen.

The BikeNZ Age Group & Omnium Track National Championships is where we celebrate our talented tracks cyclists in all age groups and categories, and we look forward to seeing the next round of national champions being crowned in Invercargill.

Brian Broad – BikeNZ – Interim CEO

Cycling Southland again welcomes you to the BikeNZ Age Group and Omnium Track National Championships at the SIT Zero Fees Velodrome. The talent and calibre of the riders attending these championships promises to provide some very exciting racing and record-breaking efforts.

These championships again provide a key platform for riders, officials and volunteers to further hone their skills and gain experience for future events. We hope that you enjoy the event and achieve to the very best of your ability. We are very proud of our world class indoor velodrome.

After having held the national championships in Invercargill for the last seven years we now look forward to sharing these with the new indoor track in Cambridge where the 2014 BikeNZ Elite and Under 19 Track National Championships will be held from 13 to 16 March 2014.

Thanks as always to the huge number of officials who will collectively put in thousands of volunteer hours in delivering this event. You remain the pulse of Cycling Southland and we remain in your debt for your generous contribution. We also recognise the valuable contribution made by BikeNZ, Lion Foundation, ILT Foundation, and other valued sponsors – your support is truly appreciated.

Have a safe and memorable week and we look forward to you returning to events in the future.

Lindsay Jordan – President of Cycling Southland

Keirin: Keirin is the Japanese version of the traditional sprint event and was created in Japan in the 1940s. The Keirin is raced over a distance of 2000 metres with a maximum field of eight riders. A motorbike (derny) paces the field over the first 1400 metres, starting off at 30km/h and bringing the riders up to 50km/h. (Women's Keirin 25–45km/h). Riders manoeuvre for the most favourable position before the derny leaves the track. No cyclist is permitted to pass the derny, which departs with two and a half laps remaining and then the battle begins. A fast and exciting event the Keirin features speed, strength and courage.

Sprint: The sprint is one of the oldest forms of track cycling competition, making its first appearance at the World Championships in Chicago in 1893. The sprint classic is a short distance event, which two or more riders compete in over three laps or 750 metres. Only the final 200 metres of the race is timed. The special requirements of the sprint are strength and speed. The key is tactics. Riders try and out position each other in a game of “cat and mouse.” Sudden and strategic changes of speed, stand still attempts and feints are typical ways of surprising the opponent. A typical sprint competition sees individual riders timed over the flying 200 metre distance and seeded according to their qualifying times.

Scratch Race: Scratch racing was introduced to the World Championship and World Cup events in 2002. The Scratch Race is one of the most exciting events, commencing with a massed start of competitors who race the assigned distance with the placings determined during the final sprint, taking into account any laps gained. Tactics are important in this event with endurance riders keeping the pace fast and furious in an effort to eliminate the sprint specialists, who in turn will try and shelter within the group to conserve their energy for the final sprint. The final ten laps are where the courage, skill, positioning and tenacity of the competitors comes to the fore as the fast finishing field prepares for the final sprint.

Omnium: The omnium is a new event on the Olympic programme. It is designed to formulate the “ironman of cycling” and discover the most versatile cyclist of track racing. The event consists of six events held over two days starting with a flying lap, then a points race, an elimination race, an individual pursuit, scratch race and finally a time trial. From each of the six events the competitors will be ranked from first to last place. The overall omnium winner will be determined by the cyclist who has accumulated the lowest total of the rankings for the six events.

Points Race: A points race is a mass start race where sprints for points occur at regular intervals. Points are for first, second, third and fourth each sprint. Riders win or lose 20 points by gaining or losing a lap. The winner is the rider with the most points accumulated at the finish.

Individual Time Trial: The time trial is a race against the clock with no room for error. The difference between gold and silver can be as little as a thousandth of a second. The bike is locked in a starting gate and the riders must time their first pedal stroke to match the gate release. From a standing start they must quickly get up to maximum speed and maintain it for the distance.

Individual Pursuit: The individual pursuit is an endurance event and is conducted as a knock-out tournament. The goal is to ride the fastest time over the distance. The fastest two riders in the qualifying round race in the gold medal final and the next two fastest contest the bronze medal final. In qualifying all riders complete the distance to post a time but in the finals if a rider overtakes their opponent they are declared the winner.

Teams Pursuit: This is a true test of technique and teamwork. Four cyclists (three cyclists for women) line up and their success relies on how well they work together. The rider on the front must keep the pace as high as possible but not ride so fast that they surge away from their team mates. The cyclists must ride as close as possible to the rear wheel of the rider in front of them to gain every possible aerodynamic benefit but make sure they don't touch wheels. The riders swing up the track at the end of their "turn" on the front leaving the next rider to set the pace. The time is taken on the front wheel of the third rider to cross the line.
